Kids Are Scientists Too Inc. (KAST) is a student-run nonprofit corporation whose goal is to inspire young scholars’ interest in science and learning through fun, interactive science sessions led by nurturing high school students. Inspiring Oakton High School students will be running this program at OES.

Each one hour session includes approximately 30 minutes of teaching and lab skill building, and 30 minutes of an interactive activity. Topics covered may include states of matter, photosynthesis, solar energy, forensics, and much more. This is a wonderful opportunity for STEM based extra-curricular experiences. For more information: http://kidsarescientiststoo.org/

Enroll by completing the attached form ad returning to OES front office.
Program Fee: $20 (admin fee)

Monetary contributions to KAST are welcome. The high school students do their own fundraising in order to purchase necessary supplies at no charge to OES. Donations can be made online at www.kastvirginia.org/donate